

>> a plan and then tells the new council to go forth and implement it we will >> be giving KC the ammunition he needs to say that this is a perfect example of >> the new council being followers of the old instead of leaders the city needs >> to move forward in a new direction. We need to rebuild the image the >> residents have of the council and it will be extremely difficult to do this >> if residents feel that we are just following along with the dictates of the >> existing council. The only way that the community is going to begin to trust >> the council again is if we really show that we are different.

>>
>>
>>

>> We understand that this may be painful to hear, but we think that the new >> council is going to need to throw the existing council under the bus on this >> one. Our suggestion is that the existing council make an announcement of >> some sort stating that mistakes were made, the nature of the mistakes, an >> apology for mistakes being made, and a plan to spend the rest of their time >> in office meeting with the new council to explain what happened and where >> things went wrong so that the new council can come up with a plan on how to >> make certain these mistakes aren't repeated. The new council will then need >> to present a plan on how things are going to be different going forward.

>>
>>
>>

>> We believe this is the first step in limiting KC's influence and >> establishing trust with the new council. We don't feel there is anything >> that can be done over the next 5 weeks to change the perception that the >> residents currently have of any of us. What we must do is show that we are >> coming in and making significant changes that are not influenced by the >> existing council.

>>
>>
>>

>> Thank you,

>>
>>
>>

>> Jenney, Gary and Trent

>